

Benefits of a Color Consultation

We Know What's Trending

Not everyone has time to keep up with the latest home decorating and color trends. That's our job! A color consultant can show you what's trending in the industry. It may not be that important to you to have the top color trends in your home but, if you're thinking of resale value, you'll want to have colors that attract today's buyer.

We Help You Pull Everything Together

You may already have a great color scheme in your home but can't seem to pull everything together to make it work. A color consultant can look at your existing color scheme and suggest ways to mix things up to find the perfect balance.

If you don't already have a color palette put together, your consultant can use your existing furnishings and tastes to create something based on what you already have in your home.

We Can Save You Money

Every time you purchase a sample can of paint or send for fabric swatches, it costs you money, and you still may be no closer to choosing a color palette for your home.

Just one visit with a color consultant can help you make better choices and save you from expensive mistakes.

We Can Save You Time

If you have been trying to come up with decorating and color ideas for your home, you've probably spent several hours going over Pinterest boards, paint color fan decks and fabric swatches. Working with a color consultant can save you time because we're already researched the best color combinations for you. You won't be overwhelmed by hundreds of colors because your consultant will help you narrow down your choices after just the first meeting.
